Perlin, ETV and TFTP Contributing Writer "This may be the end, but it's the end of a beginning, and that's important, too." — Jean-Luc Picard, The Next Generation, episode "Endgame" They say that everything happens for a reason and if you don't know what that reason is, it's not going to make much of an impact on your life. However, it's the task of those of us who have kept a level-headed perspective throughout our various adventures to learn from each experience and find purpose in them. We are those kind of people. We have been fortunate enough to be able to work within the entertainment industry for years and find happiness in it as well as have some of our stories told in a way that is a bit more entertaining than the way they ended up being initially described. When I'm not producing or co-producing my own work, I'm a writer, an editor, an online content marketer, a world traveler, and a bit of a workaholic. I've done jobs in every line of work you can think of, from production to promotion to the internet. The ability to think outside the box and find new ways to come up with something interesting is what has led me to my current position and I take great pride in my work as well as my ability to reach out to people. Now is a great time to find ways to express yourself because, as we all know, the doors that are open to us are not quite as tightly sealed as they used to be. There is always room for improvement within the industry, and I want to help out in any way that I can. You can find my work on my site, Jonathan Perlin, along with my various media endeavors and my passion projects. I'd like to get to know you better. Let me know what you like to do, who you are, and what you want to accomplish in life. Also, as someone who feels like they've been in the business for years, I can offer you

What's New in the?

Markup assistant: Now you can annotate your drawings using the Markup Assistant, adding comments and labeling to your drawings. You can then use the Markup Assistant to follow-up with a quick response. Modeling features and display options: Add functional surfaces to models faster than ever before. Use the solid fill tool to annotate the inside of functional surfaces. Flexible line and point measurements: Define custom styles and measurement units, and use them to create objects with consistent, flexible measurement properties. Faster digital surface modeling: Use the new model tool to define 3D surfaces quickly. When your model is complete, surface properties are automatically generated. Sweep and paint tools: Add paint or paint texture to your model. The brush acts like a roller, instantly covering the entire model. You can also paint gradients, blends, and compound color, so your model will look like it was hand-painted. Collapse and expand: Quickly hide or show the appropriate parts of your model. Collapse and expand parts of a model by clicking or dragging a corner handle to expand and collapse the drawing. New custom properties and properties of existing objects: Select to add or remove custom properties or properties of existing objects to work with the new tool bar. Custom properties: Add custom properties to make it easier to find specific parts or features. Properties can be customized to be more general or specific to a type. Properties of existing objects: The Properties toolbar can now be expanded and collapsed so that users can work with more properties on larger models. Read more about these new features in the Release Notes or at the Autodesk Research website. Autocad Share: Autocad Share lets you send files to a friend over email, and it also lets you share files with groups of users via Autodesk Account Manager. Autocad Share in 2019: You could send a drawing to a friend via email. You could save files to Autodesk Account Manager and share them with a group of friends. In 2020, Autocad Share is more powerful. It can now share in a variety of formats. It can also be much more efficient. (For a full rundown of what's new in Autocad Share in 2020,
